Committee to Study Plans for Show Barn

A six-man committee has been set up in Canyon to study the feasibility of erecting an enclosed arena and stock pens for livestock and horse shows.

The committee grew out of a meeting held Saturday in the commissioners' courtroom of the Randall County courthouse.

Meeting to discuss the issue were officers and directors of the Randall County Junior Livestock Association, the Randall County Sheriff's Posse, the West Texas State College Rodeo Club, a Junior Chamber of Commerce committee, and other interested persons.

Committee Members

Composing the committee which will study the problem of an animal show area are John Carlile, J. O. Parker, Earl Reynolds, Rex Loftis, Milton "Buff" Morris, and Gene McGlasson.

Carlile said the group would look into the possibility of purchasing a tract of land, building an arena, and the cost of the overall project.

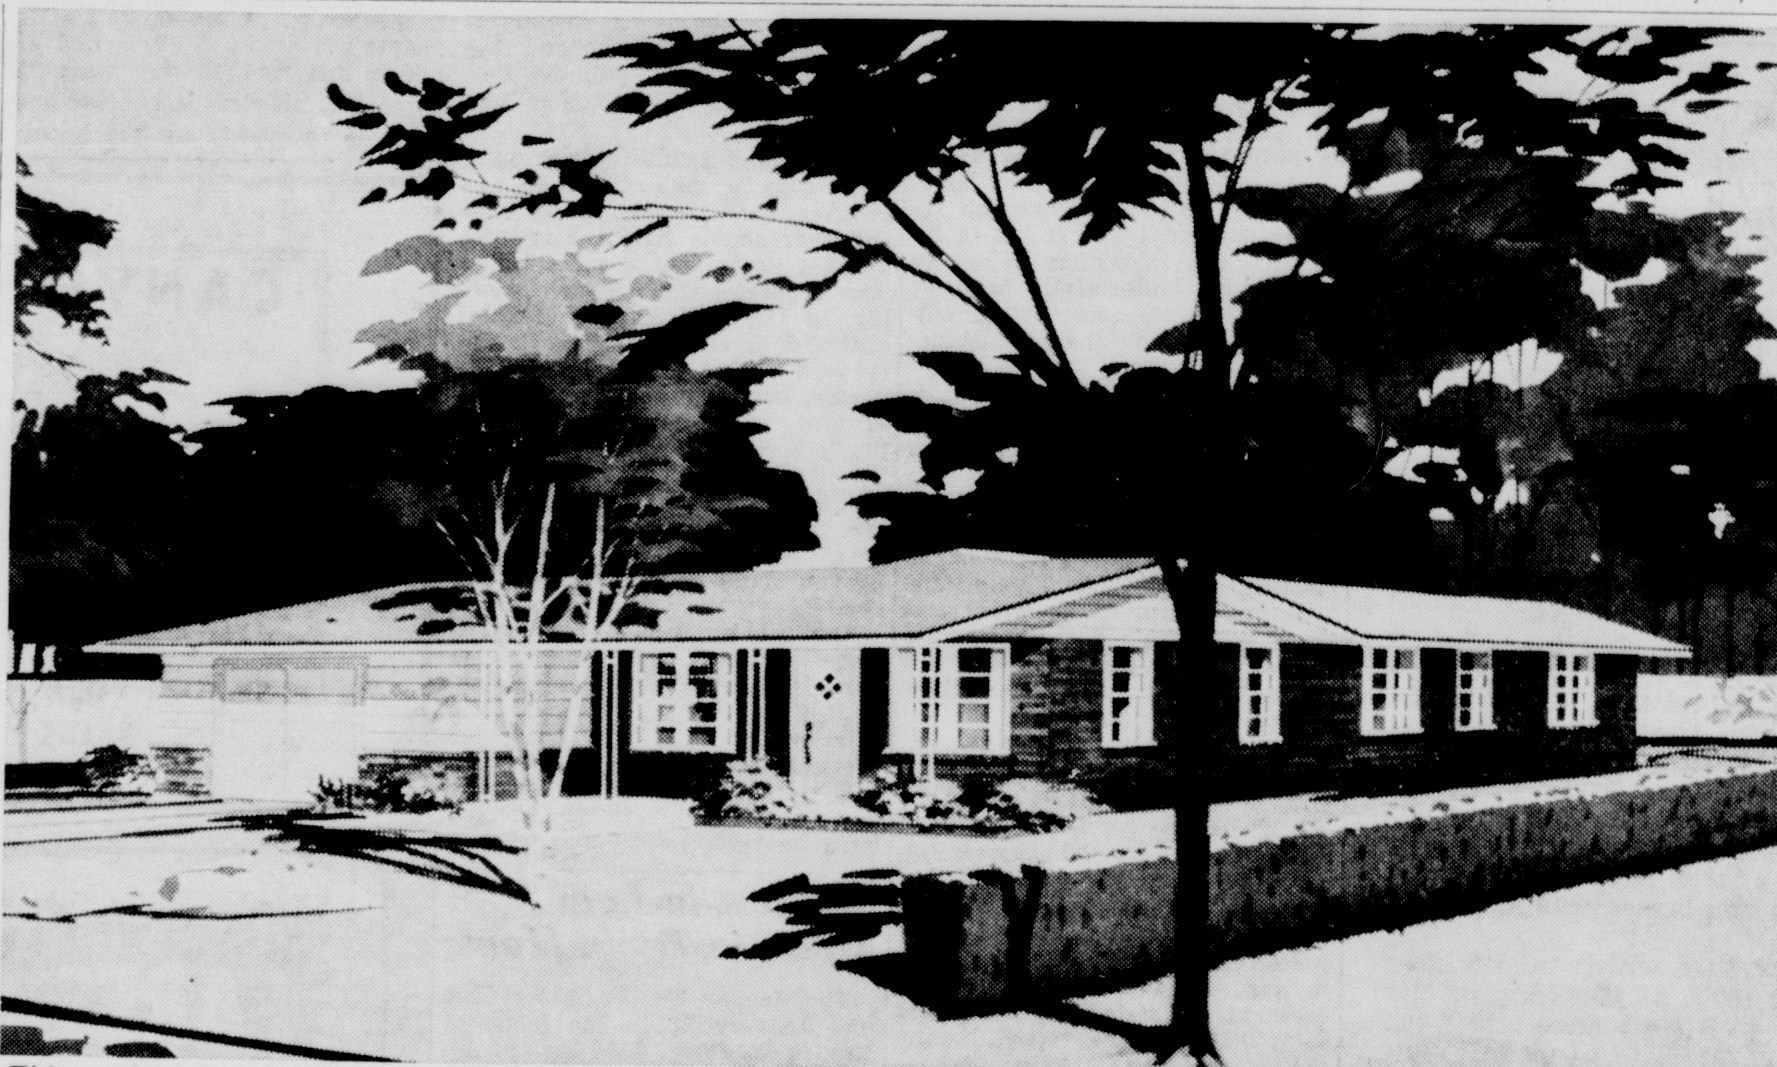

Meeting of the group was set last week by the Jaycees after Doug Rittenberry, Jaycee president, appointed a committee to get in touch with the other organizations. On the Jaycee committee were Wayne Wirt, Don Singleton, and Carlile.

County Officers Present

Meeting with the group Saturday, and not representing an organization, were B. E. "Ballie" McCormick, commissioner of Randall County's precinct 1, Glenn Dowlen, commissioner of precinct 3, W. A. "Bill" Wilson, precinct 3 justice of the peace, and Morris.

Each of the organizations at the meeting have at least one show each year, except the Sheriff's Posse, which has been organized only a few weeks.

The livestock association annually sponsors a livestock show and

This modern four-bedroom home, designed by Cliff Abbott of 2523 Seventh Avenue, was one of 17 homes chosen by American Home magazine as the "Best Home for the Money." The house contains 1,307 square feet and sold in Amarillo for $16,200 with land. The Munday Company was the builder. American Home had this to say about the house: "You would expect this house to cost more than its counterparts in the south of Texas... Yet, it is priced equally and in many cases less than comparable houses built in the warm climates along the Gulf of Mexico. This marvelous value is possible by building these houses in large numbers with production-line efficiency."

Winners Given For Showmanship At Stock Show

Showmanship awards for the Junior Livestock show were announced this week by Duane Howard, president of the Randall County Junior Livestock Association, sponsor of the annual event.

In the swine division, Eugene Howard took first, while Claiborn Crain was second.

Derrell Plank won the first place spot in the sheep division and Gary Fletcher copied second.

Larry Robinson was first in the steer division followed by Red Parker in second place.

Howard said the judging of record books for the show would be completed in about two weeks.

Mrs. J. B. Lane and Mrs. Clyde Martin of Clarendon were in Canyon Friday when David Lane, son of Mrs. Lane, underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Brasher spent Sunday in Whiteface with the W. M. Knox family.

No Surprise Candidates File For Coming Primary Election

No last-minute, surprise candidates cropped up for the upcoming elections in Randall County.

Only one new name was added to the list of those filing within the past week, and that candidate already had announced.

Gen. William L. "Jerry" Lee, the announced candidate, filed with David Matthis, chairman of the Randall County Democratic Executive Committee, late last week. General Lee, former commander of Amarillo Air Force Base, is seeking the state representative post for the 94th Floterial District.

Opposing Haley, Springer

He is opposing Evetts Haley, Jr., of Canyon and Ted Springer of Amarillo. General Lee also resides in Amarillo.

Meanwhile, Matthis announced that the Democratic Executive Committee will meet Monday to apportion costs of the first primary election among the candidates. The first primary will be held May 7.

Members of the committee will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the commissioners' courtroom of the Randall County courthouse, Matthis said.

Races Shaping Up

Several interesting races are shaping up in the Randall County area, including the battle for the state representative's job.

For the Austin post, Haley and General Lee are squaring off against incumbent Springer in the three-way duel.

On the county level, a veritable army of candidates are campaigning for the commissioner's job in

Workers in the Randall County Tax Assessor-Collector's office are still counting poll taxes after a booming rush at the close of last week.

A total of 5144 poll taxes and 670 exemptions were issued up until the rush and poll taxes for South Amarillo and the rush remain uncounted. Some estimated the total sold will double the current number of poll taxes.

Mothers' March Rounds Up $611

A total of $611.34 was raised by the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes Thursday night, according to Mrs. A. C. Haley, Jr.

About $214 was raised in the march last year.

Mrs. Haley expressed appreciation to the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Canyon Home Demonstration Club for their aid in the march. She also thanked Boy Scout troops 31 and 66 for stuffing envelopes for March of Dimes mailings.

Petitions Seek 3 for City Jobs

Petitions drafting three civic leaders for the coming vacancies on the city commission of Canyon were being circulated Wednesday morning by several businessmen in the downtown area.

By mid-morning the petitioners had collected the signatures of nearly 70 qualified voters in the city.

The petitioners hope to draft John P. Taylor, manager of the Taylor-Evans Farm Store here, as mayor.

Clarence Eugene Thompson, manager of Thompson's of Canyon, Inc., is being primed for the place two commissioner's job, while George H. Ritter, assistant professor of government at West Texas State College, is being pushed for the place three commissioner's position.

Taylor is a commissioner on the present commission and has said he would not be a candidate for re-election. The petitioners are attempting to keep him from leaving public service.

Two other city officials whose terms expire this year have said they would not seek re-election. They are mayor Charles Donnell and commissioner Lowell Harrison.

Holdover members of the commission are Delbert Lowes and John Williams. Their term will not expire until next year.

Election of city officers will be held April 5.

The petitions, which were started circulating Wednesday morning, ask the three men "to allow their names to be submitted to the voters of Canyon, Texas, for offices . . ."

He has also been assistant chief chemist for the Shell Oil Company and research consultant for the Carter Oil Company in Tulsa.

First teacher of high school physics and chemistry over television in Oklahoma—on KETA-TV in Oklahoma City—Dr. Boatman is a fellow of the Oklahoma Academy of Science.

Belongs to Societies

He is a member of the American Chemical Society, National Science Teachers Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Sigma Xi and Phi Lambda Upsilon, national honorary science fraternities, and Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity.

He is listed in such national professional journals as "American Men of Science," "Who's Who in Chemistry," "Who's Who in American Education," and "Leaders in American Science."

Married, Dr. Boatman has four children. The Boatmans live in Pueblo Courts.

Dr. J. Manly Bryan, right, president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, presented Jerry LaGrone, outgoing president, with a plaque for his service at last Friday night's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. Chester H. Lauck, a Continental Oil Company executive, was principal speaker at the banquet.

Chester H. Lauck addresses the more than 350 persons attending the annual Canyon Chamber of Commerce banquet. Lauck, who was introduced by Dr. James P. Cornette, seated on Lauck's right, told the group that industry is on the move and looking for plant sites in the small communities. (For the details of Lauck's talk, see story inside this week's News.)

Men From Capitol to Tennessee
Hills Plagued by 'Free Silver'

"Free Silver," the national political issue in 1896, also was an issue in lesser races. For example, in Tennessee, the brilliant Edward Ward Carmack was the editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal. According to the story which old-timers on the staff told, years later, when this chronicler was cub reporter, Carmack was called in by the publisher, who directed him to quit writing editorials in favor of free silver and start writing editorials supporting the gold standard.

Carmack's reply, in effect, was, "I am the editor of this newspaper and I will write only that in which I believe." So he resigned, ran for Congress and defeated the incumbent, who campaigned as a "gold-bug." The loser contested the election. Since the Republicans were in control of Congress and since the loser's position on the money question was in accord with theirs, Carmack stood an excellent chance of being unseated.

"Private John" Allen, of Tupelo, Mississippi, was a member of Congress at that time and he addressed the committee on behalf of Carmack. Allen expressed considerable doubt as to whether the contesting candidate's stand in favor of gold was sincere and then told of a speech he had heard the man make in a previous campaign. On that occasion, the statesman had (Allen said) discussed the repeal by the Republicans of the silver purchase act; then, holding up a silver dollar, had exclaimed: "Silver! Only twice disgraced! Once by Judas Iscariot and the other time by the Republican Party!" (The committee voted to seat Carmack.)

Not only did "the money question" play a major part in the Congressional campaigns of 1896 and thereafter but it was even brought up in county races where the winners could not have possibly, in the performance of their duties, done anything about it. The beloved Robert L. Taylor of Tennessee, governor and United States Senator, was fond of relating in his lectures a story about a man who was running for county clerk in the mountains of East Tennessee. While this candidate was speaking, someone called out, "How do you stand on the money question?"

The speaker replied, "I am in favor of the gold standard; also I am in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver in the ratio of 16 to 1; also I am for greenbacks—" and he paused, then concluded, "and I'm for a little more counterfeit." (He was elected by a landslide.)

Miller on Merit
List at Academy

Ralph E. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller of Canyon, has been named to the superintendent's merit list for the 1959-60 fall term at the U. S. Air Force Academy. It was announced this week.

Miller was one of 202 Air Force cadets at the academy to be named to the honor. A senior, he had to maintain a grade of 81 percent or higher and rank in the upper 75 percent of his class in conduct and aptitude to qualify for the honor.

Mrs. Rice's Father
Died in Oklahoma

Mrs. W. L. Rice returned to Canyon Saturday after attending the funeral of her father, H. H. Montgomery, in San Springs, Okla.

Mr. Montgomery, 83, died of a heart attack on January 21. The funeral was held Monday, January 25.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Rice, one son, seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Taxpayers Win A Battle

A group which would have us all pay for a service it uses extensively lost a major battle Monday, but still is ahead of the game.

At midnight Sunday, parcel post rates were increased an average of 17 percent —after a two-year battle to hike the rates.

For most of us, this increase won't amount to much. The additional money we will have to shell out for the few packages we mail via parcel post each year can be taken in stride.

Most of us would rather pay for the service as we use it instead of turning over a portion of our income tax to subsidize a program used sparingly by the average citizen.

The increased rates will produce additional parcel post revenue of $1.7 million a week. That's a great deal of money, but the service still will be operating in the red each year. Taxpayers still will have to pay about $88 million each year to make up for the losses on parcel post.

So the new rates will simply not put parcel post on a self-sustaining footing —as required by law.

The taxpayers at large will continue to pay a part of the bills run up by those who use the service. Among those taxpayers, ironically, are national, regional, and local parcel-carriers with which parcel post competes for business.

These private businesses, naturally, must show a profit for their labors. Therefore, their rates are considerably higher than those charged by the post office.

When the postmaster general requested the new rates in 1957, the increase would have put parcel post on sound financial basis. But that was in 1957.

Since then, inflation has steadily upped costs of operation of government agencies, as well as all other national activities and enterprises. In the case of the post office, a large as necessary wage increase for its employees was approved in 1958.

So a rate structure which might have been proper in 1957, at the time of the initial request, just isn't adequate now.

Therefore, the majority of us will continue to pay more than our proportionate share through taxes for parcel post, while a privileged few reap the dividends.

Confidence in Defense

Senator Stuart Symington's professed alarm over the alleged "missile gap" is not easily justified from a defense standpoint in view of certain information that has been pretty well established as fact.

The Missouri Democrat has called attention to his past disputes with U. S. intelligence estimates on Soviet missiles, pointing out with pride his success last year in wringing from then Defense Secretary McElroy the confession that the Reds might manage a 3-to-1 rocket advantage if they strained their capabilities. The revised estimate reported by the new secretary, Thomas S. Gates, is dismissed by Mr. Symington as an effort to "juggle the intelligence books so the budget books may be balanced."

Even Senator Symington admits, however, that a recognizable Red missile lead wouldn't necessarily constitute a "deterrent gap." In other words, the Soviet Union could have more missiles and still not be able to match the United States in total capacity to wage atomic war. Or, even if it did have more destructive ability it might lack the overwhelming power to risk launching a surprise attack.

The reason is that the United States, in addition to its own proven missiles, has 1,900 long-range bombers, 3,000 tactical fighters and bombers and additional thousands of carrier-based naval aircraft, all capable of delivering atomic bombs with greater accuracy than the best missiles. The planes are located at numerous, widely dispersed bases ringing the Soviet Union. Air strategists believe that from 75 to 90 per cent of them could get through present Red air defenses to strike a retaliatory blow. The number would be sufficient to depopulate several Soviet Unions even if two-thirds of them were destroyed in the initial enemy assault.

Russia's air defense should improve and its ICBM stockpile should grow enormously by, say, 1965. But by then the United States will have solid-fueled Minuteman ICBMs shuttling about the country on mobile launching pads, Polaris-firing submarines roving the seas and new supersonic bombers armed with air-to-ground ballistic missiles.

Senator Symington anticipated the charge that he is playing politics, and well he might. There's just no other justification for trying to shake the people's confidence in the nation's military security at this time. (Ft. Worth Star-Telegram)

A Job or Not?

Presumably the United Packinghouse Workers have a grievance against Wilson and Co. Almost certainly they do have. And in the settling of a grievance, there ought to be some give as well as some take.

But the violence which has been going on at Albert Lea, Minn., indicates that the strikers believe they own a job which they refuse to keep.

The contract controls the right of the company to expect them to show up for work at the agreed time. But when the contract ends, say the strikers, their duty to work for Wilson and Co. ends. There is no disputing that.

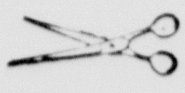

But when the contract ends, according to the strikers, there is still the obligation of Wilson & Co. to shut down until the strikers say that it can open up again. Where does that obligation come from? On what does it rest? What court enforces that obligation?

When you quit a job, refuse to go back to it, wash your hands of the contract and assert that the company has no claim on you, what proper claim have you on the company? Can you own a job you refuse to hold? Can you?

(Ft. Worth Star-Telegram)

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Dave McReynolds in the Friona Star: This has been quite a week! Our pore kinfolks have caught quite a bit of kidding over the weather situation and to add insult to injury our momma-in-law was taken to the Farmer County Community Hospital for an emergency appendectomy last week.

She is getting along just fine and she is back "visiting" with us again now.

That sure is a hard way to keep on visiting tho.

As one of her friends wrote her "I knew you would do most anything to spend a little more time with those grandkids."

George Dolan in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram: This little byplay, from last year's show, may shed some light on just how a cowman feels about his stock.

Roy Parks of Midland, who was honored by cattle people, responded in this manner:

"I like people better'n anything in the world. Next to people, I like hereford cattle."

Said a friend in the audience: "I hope word of this doesn't get back to his herd!"

"Oh," explained his next-plate neighbor, "ol' Roy probably got excited up there in front of everybody and just got people and herefords backwards."

Ben Ezzell in The Canadian Record: This is a lousy depression. Everybody's working and everybody's broke. At least we didn't have to work in the last one.

For a politician who isn't "running," Lyndon Johnson is sure raising a lot of dust up and down the road. Of course, Lyndon is officially back in the political picture now . . . sort of as an afterthought, he filed for re-election to the U. S. Senate from Texas the other day.

But the "Lyndon B. Johnson (for President) Newsletter" which reached our desk the other day, all done up in red, white and blue and bearing the legend, "No. 1," makes it pretty clear that LBJ is riding a lot more range than you'll find in Texas . . . and while the Newsletter never does come right out and say what it is Lyndon wants to be President of, the general idea seems to be that his goal is the White House.

We refuse to take this candacy seriously, though, until we hear it from Lyndon's own lips. He has stated, repeatedly, that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination, and knowing him to be, without doubt, a truthful man, we believe him.

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: Months ago a Dallas advertising man gloomily predicted to us that the standard name products on TV were advertising themselves into a corner with all that comparative stuff.

"The way they're doing it," he said, "Brand X is getting ten times as much advertising as the real brands."

He felt at the time that if somebody just packaged up something under the label of Brand X and put it on the shelves, it would sell out. The repetition of "Brand X" on commercial after commercial was bound to have pounded into buyers' heads an automatic impulse to buy, he felt.

We don't know what the sales records are, but in the window of a grocery in Parkdale the other day was this sign: "WE CARRY BRAND X."

$103,000 Awaits New Bosses Of City, Commissioners Say

The new city administration will have $103,000 in all city funds to start its term of office, a progress report mailed Canyon residents states.

This will contrast sharply with the $22,000 in city coffers when the current administration took office. The $22,000—part of which could be used only for retiring bonded indebtedness — was not enough to meet the first month's expenses of the city, according to the progress report.

The report was prepared by the outgoing mayor and city commissioners, who have indicated they will not seek re-election.

City Election Coming

A mayor and two city commissioners will be elected in April to serve with commissioners John Williams and Delbert Lowes, who have another year remaining on their current term of office.

Not expected to seek re-election are mayor Charles Donnell and commissioners John Taylor and Lowell Harrison.

The report stated that during the past year the commission has spent approximately $50,000 for improvements. About $35,000 went to buy new equipment, including a new police car, garbage truck, caliche truck, front end loader and tractor, street sweeper, mower, and smaller items.

About $15,000 was spent in repairing streets in the city.

Fire Truck, Dozer Needed

Still needed, however, is a new fire truck and a bulldozer.

The commission feels that the city cannot retain its low key rate for fire insurance if a new fire truck is not bought in the near future.

A bulldozer is needed, the report says, to cut new trenches at the dumping ground and to do street work.

Look Into Future

Peering into the future the commission forecasts. "The State Highway Department has agreed to widen Fourth Avenue from the City Hall to Highway 60; work should start on this within the next two or three months. Signal lights will then be installed near the city Hall and the Post Office at no cost to the City. We will receive about $50,000 worth of paving at a slight cost to the City. . . . The City of Amarillo Traffic Department has made a courtesy survey for us; we expect to receive recommendations soon as to what lights are needed around the college and on Highway 87. Earlier surveys have not indicated a need for additional lights."

The report points out that although giant strides have been made to improve the financial position of the city, the general fund receipts, which are to be used to meet operating expenses, do not meet these expenses.

$30,000 Shy Yearly

Approximately $30,000 a year is taken from the money raised through collections for water to meet operating expenses, according to the report.

With the $30,000, however, the commission said, "We are now able to meet all of our regular obligations and to make some essential improvements each year. It will take 27 more years to retire the present bonded indebtedness, and it will probably be several more years before the City will be able to sell any more bonds."

The commissioners closed the report with, "The three of us who are soon retiring from office deeply appreciate your support during the past two years. We hope that you will give the next Commission the same fine backing that you have given us."

State Nabs 459 For Violations

Austin, Many hunters and fishermen are still trying to get by without buying a license, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. During December, 98 persons were arrested for failure to possess licenses. For the month there were 459 arrests.

He warned that all persons fishing outside their home counties, or anyone fishing with a rod and reel must have a license, unless they are under 16 or over 65 years of age. The license costs $2.15 for either resident or non-resident and includes saltwater as well as fresh water fishing.

Headlighters also figured heavily in the December arrests, according to the report. They were 67 convictions for headlighting at night. There were 26 charged with killing spike bucks.

Exceeding the bag limit on quail brought fines to 22 persons. Ten hunters were fined for killing doves out of season.

Automobile hunters accounted for 19 fines. Fines were paid by 14 for killing turkey hens.

The 459 arrested persons paid fines and court costs amounting to $19,446. There were 18 cases dismissed, three served time in jail, four appealed, there were two suspended sentences, and one person found not guilty.

STEP OUT IN IT

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.

Butyl rubber body mounts—Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road.

Body by Fisher—Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.

Foam cushioned seats—Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one.

Safety-Girder frame—X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.

Hydraulic valve lifters—Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper.

Cushioned steering shaft—A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel.

Precision balanced wheels and tires—Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital area—tire life is longer, too.

Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.

Superior weight distribution—Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.

Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.

Now—fast delivery, favorable deals! See your local authorized Chevrolet dealer!

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Completion of the Interstate Highway System, including 3,033 miles of top-standard express ways, may save as many as 300 Texans a year from traffic deaths, State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer says that accident records show that controlled access expressways are three times safer.

Also, he said, they move three to four times as much traffic. Greer estimates that the Interstate Highway System, when completed, will save one life a year for each 10 miles of road.

Target year for getting Texas highways to desired standards is 1975.

By that time, said the state highway engineer, the state probably will have 70,000 miles in the state highway system compared to the present 60,000. There will be 5,500 miles of multi-lane highways compared to 2,168 today.

More Speed?
Whether speeds in excess of 60 miles per hour should be legalized for some of the state's top-notch highways will be subject of study between now and the next Legislature.

Committees of the Texas Good Roads Association are to consider this and whether gasoline taxes should be upped to gain school funds.

Governor Daniel has suggested the possibility of raising money for school improvements and teacher salaries through a higher gasoline tax. TGRA, made up of people interested in road building, has, in the past, opposed draining taxes paid by road users for non-highway purposes.

Higher speed limits have been proposed for four-lane highways, but have failed to pass the Legislature.

Deficit Grows
Deficit in the state's general revenue fund has reached $78,647,301 an all time high, says State Treasurer Jesse James.

Things should look better after May 1, when corporation franchise taxes will be paid, he adds.

Appointees
Appointed by Governor Daniel to the Texas Commission on Educational Standards are Mrs. W. D. DeGrassi of Amarillo, Horace K. Jackson of Gatesville, Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville, Cullum Greene of Fort Worth, and Mrs. E. P. Lambeth of Dallas.

To the Educational Commission.

Anti-Narcotics Aid Promised
Governor Daniel has promised El Paso every possible help in combating its problem of being "a major distribution point of an international narcotics ring."

In response to a telegram in which El Paso Judge Woodrow Bean cited the city's "major" problem, the governor conferred with state and federal authorities.

Daniel said he was assured after talking with Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, that DPS men were and would continue to work with local law enforcement officials in El Paso in fighting narcotics traffic.

Also, said the governor, he has been told by the Federal Narcotics Commission that eight federal customs agents in El Paso also do anti-narcotics work.

Federal Commissioner H. J. Anslinger promised the governor to survey and consider the request for a special federal narcotics agent in El Paso.

Lower Train Fares Sought
Railroad Commission has set a hearing for Tuesday on a request by Texas railroads to reduce passenger fares between Houston and Dallas and Fort Worth.

Railways want to reduce the round trip fare from Houston to Dallas from $13.05 to $8 and the fare from Houston to Fort Worth from $14.80 to $10.

A spokesman for the Railroad Commission said that no opposition was expected from rail companies not making these runs.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM

AUSTIN, TEXAS

GREETINGS:

One of the leading annual programs of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is sponsorship during February of American History Month.

February is an important time in America's history, being the month in which two great Presidents, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln were born. The DAR and other organizations plan programs during this month to stimulate interest in our Country's history, and these worthwhile endeavors deserve the support of all Americans.

In these times of constant stress and numerous world problems, each citizen has a responsibility to become more aware of his heritage. An appreciation of the heritage passed down to us by our forefathers promotes better citizenship and gives us a sound foundation upon which to base current decisions.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the month of February, 1960, as in Texas, and urge due observance thereof.

WHAT ONE VOTE HAS DONE
IN OUR COUNTRY'S HISTORY

By OSCAR GRIFFIN

So you didn't pay your poll tax. Just kept putting it off and finally it was too late. It's no sin of course not to be carrying around a valid poll tax receipt, but I certainly don't want to hear you griping about "those politicians."

And just to make you feel worse about not plunking down the buck 75, here's some interesting facts collected by Jake Smyth, editor of the Liberty Vindicator in southeast Texas:

In a Texas county the name of a citizen was placed on the school trustee ballot against his will. He lost by only one vote . . . he voted for the friend who was running against him.

One vote in Congress saved selective service just before Pearl Harbor.

Thomas Jefferson was elected president by one vote in the electoral college. So was John Quincy Adams.

Just one vote gave statehood to California, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, and Texas . . . so, today the millions living in these five states are Americans by just one vote.

Rutherford B. Hayes was elected president by one vote. His election was contested and it was referred to an electoral commission. Again he won by a single vote. The man who cast the deciding vote for President Hayes was a congressman from Indiana, a lawyer who was elected to Congress by a margin of one vote. And that one vote cast by a client of his who, though desperately ill, insisted on being taken to the polls to vote.

Or so the story goes. But it does point up one important fact: You're only a half citizen if you failed to qualify yourself to vote. And someone has added that it's probably the bottom half.

A few days ago when an Army sergeant was talking to George Snapp in the drug store, someone told JP Bill Wilson that the sergeant was looking for him.

"Oh no he isn't," Bill said. "I've been reclassified to 2-F, 2-F—too fat to fight."

Fellow down the street says the most obnoxious character in his office at the moment is the fellow who boasts about the two-week vacation he still has coming to him.

Buffalo Gals Seek
'Books for Korea'

Donations of books are being sought by Buffalo Gals, West Texas State College service club, for its semester project "Books For Korea."

Books in the field of general science, medicine, engineering, pharmacy, mathematics, law, history, political science, economics, agriculture, and forestry are the most important of the group's needs. English and American literature, foreign language, art, and music texts are also needed.

Buffalo Gals has asked that no light fiction, or mysteries be donated.

Except in the case of literary classics, no books published before 1945 should be included.

Contributions may be taken to Brown Hall.

Deaconess to Speak
At WSCS Meeting

A deaconess was guest speaker at a general meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service Tuesday in the First Methodist Church.

Miss Helen Reeves spoke on "City Missions." She was introduced by Mrs. C. D. Schnack.

A coffee arranged by the Joyce Hill Circle began the general meeting.

Washington Report

The Federal Budget

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

The 1961 fiscal year will begin on July 1, 1960, and end on June 30, 1961. The money to operate the federal government during that fiscal year will be appropriated by this present session of Congress.

On January 12, President Eisenhower delivered his budget message. This is an annual message delivered to Congress recommending expenditures to be made in the operations of the federal government. The message is prepared on facts and figures produced and evaluated by the Bureau of the Budget.

The Bureau of the Budget is an agency of the president and a part of the executive branch of the government. The various boards, bureaus, and agencies of the government prepare their own proposed expenditures and then submit these to the Bureau for consideration as a part of the final budget message to be submitted by the president to the Congress.

Must Evaluate Requests

One of the major responsibilities of the Bureau of the Budget in evaluating the requests for expenditures is to keep these expenditures within the amount of money which will be available to the federal government from tax sources and otherwise.

When it fails to do this, the government is operating on a deficit. This means that the national debt is increased by the amount of the deficit.

In the past seven years, deficit operation of the government has resulted in an increase in the national debt of approximately $20 billion. This is not a good practice, because it not only makes the tax burden heavier, but requires the use of more tax money for the payment of interest.

Interest Big Factor

Interest requirements on the public debt since 1954 have jumped from $6,477 million to an estimated $9,585 million for 1961. This means that over 30 percent more tax money will be required in 1961 to pay interest on the national debt than was required in 1954.

In fact, approximately 11 percent of the 1961 budget expenditures will be for interest on the national debt. This is entirely too much interest and, in my opinion, the debt must be reduced. I have heretofore opposed the increases in the public debt as well as the increases in interest rates.

Where Money Goes

According to the Bureau of the Budget the federal tax dollar comes from the following sources:

52 cents from individual income taxes
28 cents from corporation taxes
11 cents from excise taxes
9 cents from all other sources
The tax dollar is spent as follows:
54 cents for major national security
11 cents for interest on the public debt
7 cents for agriculture
7 cents for veterans
5 cents for debt retirement
16 cents for other (including international affairs and finance, commerce, housing, natural resources, labor and welfare, and general government).

Government Costs Little
These figures are general, but they will give you some idea of where the tax dollar comes and where it goes. In breaking down the different functions of the federal government, it is interesting to note that the general government, which includes financial management, property and records management, central personnel costs, FBI, alien control and related programs, legislative (Congress), and judicial (courts) functions, the District of Columbia, the territories and possessions, the weather bureau, and other general government functions, is the smallest percentage of any of the divisions of expenditures as broken down by the Bureau of the Budget.

General government consumes 24 percent of the 1961 budget expenditures, while international affairs and finance, which includes only a part of the foreign aid program, consumes 2.8 percent of the 1961 budget expenditures.

Information Booklet

One of the most interesting books published is a small pamphlet entitled "1961 Federal Budget in Brief". It is a pamphlet from which the above figures were taken. It is very easy to read, and most informative. It can be obtained for the small sum of 25 cents. It is for sale at that price by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

I wish it was possible for me to send one of these books to each of you, as I think you would enjoy it very much and I know you would learn a lot about federal expenditures. I feel that 25 cents spent by any citizen for this pamphlet would be a very wise investment.

Industry Eyeing Small Towns For Plant Sites, Lauck Says

Industry throughout the United States is on the move and is looking at the smaller communities for plant sites, Chester H. Lauck, executive assistant with Continental Oil Company, told the more than 350 persons at last Friday's Chamber of Commerce banquet at the West Texas State College cafeteria.

"Competition is very keen from other small communities," however, so "you can't be complacent. You must keep progressing," Lauck told the audience. "That's why the Chamber of Commerce needs the active support of everyone."

The former Lum of the famous Lum and Abner radio team said that mechanization of the farm means "fewer people in your stores." Therefore, communities must work to attract industry and people.

Government Controls Alarming

Lauck, who was introduced by Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College, also expressed alarm at the growing problem of government control. "We've got to get into politics," he said, "because any changes made will have to start at the grass roots."

"And if we don't get busy, we can expect an encroachment of our freedoms. This is the 11th hour," the oil executive said.

$295 Billion Debt

Lauck especially seemed shocked at the size of our national debt, which is now approaching the $295 billion mark.

"What kind of legacy are we leaving our children?" he asked. The people in Washington are thinking of the next election instead of the next generation, he stated.

Singling out the government's farm program, Lauck said it "hasn't worked." Some $11 billion worth of grain now belongs to the government, he explained, that is destined to remain in storage.

Cattlemen Refused Aid

The government cannot give it away without disturbing the economy of the entire world. And it can't be dumped in the ocean because of humanitarian reasons, he explained.

Lauck pointed out that the nation's cattlemen had refused government aid a few years ago and that that part of the nation's economy had worked itself out.

He indicated that what is needed is for the government to step out of the farm picture and the farm problem could be worked out on the open market.

McClure Presents Painting

After Lauck's address, C. Boone McClure, director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum and a member of the C. of C. board of directors, presented Lauck with a painting of the first home built in the Panhandle as a "symbol of the heritage we possess in Canyon."

Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the invocation, and Jerry LaGrone, past president of the chamber, introduced out-of-town guests.

Mrs. A. W. Lair presented the special music, and Dr. J. Manly Bryan, new president of the civic organization, introduced the chamber's board of directors.

One of Four Use Simple Tax Form

"Treasury records show that one out of every four taxpayers use the simplified tax form 1040A," says Hubert B. Hamill, administrative officer of Internal Revenue Service in Amarillo.

Revenue's midget (size of an average bank check) tax form may be used by individuals with total income of less than $10,000, consisting of wages reported on Form W-2 and not more than $200 in dividends, interest, and wages not subject to withholding.

Husband and wife may file a joint 1040A return for '59, if their combined income doesn't exceed the stated limits.

"Taxpayers using Form 1040A automatically claim the standard 10 percent deduction allowed for such personal expenses as contributions, interest payments, medical expenses, and such. Taxpayers with allowable deductions for these items in excess of 10 percent of their income for '59 must use the standard Form 1040, if they wish to claim them," Hamill explained.

Taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 may figure their own tax, or have revenue do the chore. Taxpayers with incomes of $5,000 or more must figure their own tax.

Form 1040A must not be used when taxpayers claim "head of household" or "surviving spouse" status; dividends received credit or retirement income credit, "sick pay" exclusion; deducts for travel, transportation, or "outside salesmen" expense; or estimated tax payment credit, the IRS representative said.

RELATIVE DIES

Mrs. Bruce Gressett received word that her sister-in-law, Mrs. John D. Cook, of San Bernardino, Calif., died Sunday, January 31. Funeral arrangements were pending when Mrs. Gressett notified The Canyon News.

New Buildings Due Buffalo Lake

A permanent headquarters for the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge is scheduled for early construction according to Bob Darnell, manager of the refuge for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Invitations for bids on construction of two buildings were announced recently by the bureau, branch of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Buildings will include a 28 by 75 foot service building and a 25 by 46 foot residence. The service building will house the refuge office, a small laboratory, shop, and storage space for equipment. Both buildings will be constructed of concrete block.

Upon completion of construction the refuge office will be moved from its present temporary location in the Randall County court house to the new site about three miles south of Umbarger.

Specifications and bid forms are available at the office on the third floor of the court house. Sealed bids will be opened in the Bureau Region II office in Albuquerque, New Mexico, February 16.

In addition to the manager, permanent personnel authorized for the refuge include a clerk and a maintenance man. Both positions are now vacant.

TIP TO MOTORISTS

One way to keep an automobile from breaking the speed limit is to let horse sense control the horsepower under the hood.

Campbells Visit Ex-Residents

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Campbell returned recently from a three week visit in and around Los Angeles, Calif., visiting former residents of Randall County and relatives.

The Campbells first visited Herschel Jones in Tarzana, from where they went to the Rose Parade. Afterward they visited the Cecil Joneses in Camarillo. Cecil has a lovely orange orchard which he uses as a hobby when he is between flights for Trans-World Airlines.

The Campbells enjoyed a barbecued chicken dinner with the Delbert Joneses. Delbert stocks 120,000 chicks at a time, and sold 20,000 the night the Campbells were there.

Luther Jones has 20 acres of oranges which he was picking. Walton Jones lives in Stockton, where he has been working for the past 13 years. Lyle Jones lives in Los Angeles and became a father for the first time while the Campbells were there. Leola Jones Powell of Reedley entertained the Campbells with her dinner. Her husband is a dentist.

Appearance of 'Mouse that Roared' At Varsity to Aid WT History Club

Showing of one of the most talked-about comedies of the year at the Varsity Theater Sunday and Monday has special interest to the two history clubs at West Texas State College.

A portion of the proceeds from sale of tickets will be awarded to the clubs for projects. Advance sale will be handled by members of the two clubs and the history department offices in the Administration Building. Regular admission of 50 and 25 cents will be charged.

First In Panhandle

The movie is the hilarious satire, "The Mouse that Roared," which has been held over more than a month in every city it has shown. The Varsity appearance is the first in the Panhandle area.

"The Mouse that Roared" is based on the little novel by Leonard Wibberley, and is called a "fable of our time."

Wholesome as fresh air, the color-photographed story begins in the world's smallest nation, Grand Fenwick, somewhere in Europe. Its wine trade is threatened by a California imitation, and the little Duchy decides to recoup its exchequer by declaring war on the United States—and losing.

The citizens kneel from history than any country defeated by America is immediately reconstructed in better shape than it had been before.

Fenwick Wins War

The campaign, waged by 20 archers in chain mail, is a hilarious satire. Even funnier troubles develop when Grand Fenwick accidentally wins the war—how and why, you'll learn from the movie.

The movie stars Peter Sellers and Jean Seberg, and Sellers appears in three roles, as Tully Bascombe, gamekeeper and legendary leader of Grand Fenwick forces, Mountjoy, prime minister of Grand Fenwick, and Gloriana, duchess of Grand Fenwick.

Mrs. Hanig Cops WT Scholarship

Mrs. Ruth Hanig of Canyon, a junior history major at West Texas State College, has been named winner for 1960 of the Sheffy-Anderson scholarship, according to Dr. Lowell H. Harrison, head of the history department.

The award, honoring Dr. L. F. Sheffy and Dr. Hattie M. Anderson, long-time history professors at WT who retired in 1957, goes annually to an upperclassman compiling the best scholastic record in both history and over-all college work.

The scholarship, with the WT Ex-Students Association as trustee, was started in the spring of 1958. More than $2,000 contributed by ex-students and friends has been raised for the fund, and interest from investment of the money is being used for the award.

Tulia Trounces Eaglettes, 63-34

Patricia Salmon sank 16 points and Marilyn Winn hit 14 points Tuesday night but it wasn't enough to overcome Tulia as the Canyon Eaglettes dropped a district basketball clash at Tulia, 63-34.

However, the Eaglettes eked out a 47-42 win over Happy Cowgirls last Friday. High scorer in the non-district tilt was Miss Winn with 21 points, followed by Kathy Hinger with 13 points and Kay Boydston with 12 points.

Next game for the Eaglettes is a conference clash with Dimmitt here Friday. At the last meeting of the two girls squads, Dimmitt dumped the Eaglettes, 56-41.

Last Rites Held For G. L. Woods

George Lee Woods, Sr., 70, of Happy was buried Saturday in Happy Cemetery.

Woods died Thursday in Nebllett Hospital. He had moved to Happy from Hereford in 1945. He had operated the locker and cold storage plant in Happy until 1955, when he retired. The business is now operated by his son.

Woods was a member of the First Methodist Church of Happy and Masonic Lodge No. 1008 of Happy.

Services were conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the First Methodist Church of Happy with Rev. Walter Hadley, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. Elmer Crabtree, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Plainview, and Rev. Floyd Haddock, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Happy.

Graveside rites were conducted at Happy Cemetery by the Masonic Lodge.

LaGrone Funeral Chapel had charge of arrangements. Survivors are the wife, Emma Woods of Happy; two daughters, Mrs. Wilber Carroll of Hereford and Mrs. Charlie Sowell of Hereford; one son, George Lee Woods, Jr., of Happy; two grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren.

Active pall bearers were Jack Caddell, A. J. Greenfield, George Rahlis, James Weatherspoon, L. G. Airhart, Homer Kinsey, O. K. McDonald, and Charles Evans.

Gen. Lee Enters Solon Post Race

General Lee, former commander of Amarillo Air Force Base, was drafted for the race by an Amarillo civic club. He filed for the post in Randall County late last week.

The general retired from the Air Force July 31, 1959, after serving 31 years. During that time, he received 12 military decorations, including the U. S. Distinguished Service Medal, the Philippine Legion of Honor, and the French Legion of Honor.

He now resides at 4120 Paramount in Amarillo.

Mrs. Owen Hosts VFW Auxiliary

The ladies' Auxiliary to the Veterans' of Foreign Wars met on February 1st at the home of Mrs. D. S. Owens with seventeen members present.

Dr. Dudley Moore presented plans on the new Community Center Building. His presentation aroused the enthusiasm of all members present and the organization is most anxious to do all within their power to carry out this worthwhile project.

Three new members, Viola Russell, Dolores Crow, and Margaret Boyce were given the obligation, and welcomed into the Auxiliary.

A report on the Mothers March on Polio was sent in by Dorothea Hunnicutt who was unable to attend the meeting. A total of fifteen Auxiliary members took an active part in the drive.

President LaVohn Gardner displayed the booklet entitled "Etiquette on the Stars and Stripes" which will be presented to all fourth and fifth graders this month as part of an Americanism program. This is a VFW publication on the care and usages of the American flag. Donations this month included the Heart Fund and the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

President LaVohn Gardner reported on the Mid-winter Round-up held in Plainview on January 22, 23, and 24. The highlight of the meeting was the presence of the National Gertrude Rhind. LaVohn reported that Mrs. Rhind's theme this year is the organized and individual attention to the Golden Age group, our senior citizens. All members are urged to visit with aid in any way possible, and brighten the days with thoughtfulness of any one in this group.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be on March 7th at the home of Mrs. C. E. Clark.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Today's farmer is luckier than his grandfather, because he has a wide variety of management and cultural practices from which to choose in planning his crop production.

Some believe the drought in the '50's did not develop into a "dust bowl" because of the farmer's ability to plow more acres deeper and with the right type of equipment.

Be this as it may, today's farmer has problems that his grandfather did not have, that of the greatly increased cost of farming. Today's successful farmer is operating a big business. To effectively operate this business the farmer is aware that he needs to use the best management practices as well as the best seed.

A farmer might wisely consider the use of diversions, terraces, crop rotations, crops to protect the soil from erosion by wind, soil improving crops, or maybe better management of his irrigation water.

Some points considered fundamental in working out these problems are:

1. Know your soil. It has been said, "Every soil has its proper use." Because of the different characteristics of the soils, their use, management, and potential are different. For example, soils differ greatly in the intake of irrigation water.
2. Select the crop to be grown. Different crops require different types of equipment, amounts of water, and plant food.
3. Know the past history. This is important in crop rotation. Some crops will not follow other crops well.
4. Use the soil test. The soil test can be a valuable aid in determining the amount of fertilizer to use.

In addition to the points above, many other good farm management practices should be included. If you would like more information about your soils or would like assistance in working out your plan for your farm or ranch, contact any of the supervisors of the Randall Potter Soil Conservation District or the technicians of the Soil Conservation Service in Canyon.

Eddie Knowles, Canyon Bowl manager, said there were 120 entries in the tournament, which lasted from 6:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. Wednesday.

The program, one of the major features of the golden anniversary year for West Texas State, will be at 11 a. m. in the Administration Building auditorium. Following the program, a tree-planting ceremony will be held.

J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, member of one of the early classes, will be speaker for the assembly. His talk is expected to follow "the good old days" theme.

A number of ex-students who attended the college in its infancy will be introduced by Milton "Buff" Morris, executive secretary of the WT Ex-Students Association.

The planting of trees on the campus, a custom of the past, will be done by members of each of the four classes, led by Wayne Smith of Pampa, president of the Student Association. The trees will be planted in the campus quadrangle west of the Administration Building.

Concluding the ceremony, the A Cappella Choir, directed by Dr. Houston Bright, will lead in singing the college alma mater.

Mrs. W. T. Lamar of Crosbyton has contributed $5,000 to the Opportunity Plan, scholarship program at West Texas State College, as a memorial to her father, the late A. N. Henson, who was a long-time resident of Canyon and a commissioner and judge of Randall County. The trust is being handled by the Citizens National Bank of Lubbock, and its vice president, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, left, hands a check to WT President, Dr. James P. Cornette.

Former Canyon Resident Gives Boost to WT Opportunity Plan

A major boost has been given to the Opportunity Plan at West Texas State College by the gift of $5,000 by a former Canyon resident.

Mrs. W. T. Lamar, of Crosbyton, a West Texas State former student, has established a trust fund from which the scholarship program will draw $1,000 a year for the next five years, according to Milton "Buff" Morris, executive secretary of the WT Ex-Students Association.

The association administers the "help-yourself" scholarship plan. In Father's Memory

The memorial fund has been given by Mrs. Lamar in memory of her father, the late A. N. Henson, former Randall County judge and himself a former WT student. The trust is being handled by the Citizens National Bank of Lubbock.

Mrs. Lamar also had recently contributed $500 for the operation of the Opportunity Plan at WT.

The Opportunity Plan was started at WT in 1953 by Morris, and it provides aid for students in attending college. Students borrow whatever money they need while attending college and work during the regular term and during summers to repay the loan. They keep records of all money spent through the plan and repay it through work.

Canyon High Graduate

Mrs. Lamar was graduated from Canyon High School and attended WT before going to North Texas State. She attended WT during its infant years in 1911.

Mr. Henson enrolled at WT in 1913 when he was 56 years of age. He had moved to Randall County in 1897 from Jack County, and he held several public offices in the county.

A former school teacher, he was county judge for a number of years, and he was also a county commissioner, mayor of Canyon, collector of taxes, and deputy county and district clerk.

After retiring, Mr. Henson lived for several years in Edinburg. He died in 1948 in Mineral Wells.
